

Contributors to this Issue

Jonathan Anuik is a doctoral candidate and research assistant at the University of Saskatchewan.

Ray Barnhardt is a professor of cross-cultural studies at the University of Alaska Fairbanks. ffrjb@uaf.edu

Amy Carpenter (Métis) is a full-time public school educator and a part-time graduate student in the Faculty of Kinesiology and Recreation Management at the University of Manitoba.

Janice Forsyth is an assistant professor with a joint appointment in the Faculty of Physical Education and Recreation and the School of Native Studies at the University of Alberta.

Joannie Halas is a professor in the Faculty of Kinesiology and Recreation Management at the University of Manitoba

Joseph Mousseau is an Aboriginal graduate of Children of the Earth High School. He is currently working for Seven Oaks School Division as a Community Liaison worker.

Rachel Mason is an educator living in Victoria, British Columbia. rachelemason@yahoo.com

Kathryn Magee is a doctoral candidate at the Ohio State University. Her current research focuses on the effects of disease on the Huron Confederacy in the 1630s. magee.48@osu.edu

Paul Orłowski is Department Head of the teacher education program at University College of the Fraser Valley. paul.orłowski@ucfv.ca

Jean-Paul Restoule is an assistant professor of Aboriginal education in the Department of Adult Education and Counselling Psychology at the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education of the University of Toronto.

Alaina Roach O'Keefe is the International Education and Development Project Coordinator at the University of Prince Edward Island. aroach@upei.ca

Alex Rothney is a physical education teacher in Seven Oaks School Division in Winnipeg.

Vianne Timmons is Vice-President Academic Development at the University of Prince Edward Island and President Elect of the University of Regina beginning September 1, 2008. vtimmons@upei.ca

Maryam Wagner is a research coordinator and instructor at the University of Prince Edward Island. mwagner@upei.ca

Karen Wall is an assistant professor in communication studies at the Centre for State and Legal Studies, Athabasca University. kwall@athabascau.ca

Fiona Walton is an assistant professor in the Faculty of Education at the University of Prince Edward Island. fwalton@upei.ca