

Contributors

W. Kaye Lamb, distinguished historian, archivist, and librarian, has written extensively on the maritime and fur-trade history of British Columbia.

Tomas Bartoli, a former member of the Hispanic and Italian Studies Department at the University of British Columbia, has had a long-standing interest in the maritime history of Canada's west coast.

John Belshaw teaches history at Cariboo College, Kamloops.

Michael M'Gonigle, with Wendy Wickwire, is the author of Stein: The Way of the River (Vancouver: Talonbooks, 1988).