

CONTRIBUTORS

ROBERT CAMPBELL teaches Canadian history at Capilano College. He is the author of numerous articles and two books on regulation of liquor.

CHRISTOPHER DUMMITT is a doctoral candidate at Simon Fraser University. "Risk on the Rocks" is part of a larger work on the connections between ideas of masculinity and the experience of modernity in postwar Vancouver.

KAREN ROUTLEDGE recently completed her MA in History at Simon Fraser University and is currently a PhD student at Rutgers, the State University of New Jersey.

NATHAN J. YOUNG is a graduate student and Killam Predoctoral Fellow in the Department of Anthropology and Sociology at the University of British Columbia.